ArtSENSE: Innovation Discourses
Behind barriers, forces and complex relationships, we will be doing, feeling and reflecting together. No silos and no organizational climate or finding. How they can survive in crisis in pendulum situations and how to improve and renew processes, services, products, organizational culture or mean in organizational contexts when employees, managers, customers are using to find and get along. The workshop offers a space to discuss what these arts-based initiatives actually could mean in organizational contexts. Workshop will be placed on the articulation of the stages of process of research-based theater (RBT) as a form of arts-based initiative in the context of support innovation and organizational development. The workshop will simulate the different training mechanisms on which vision can train their innovation competence.
