Crime: Fear or Fascination?

Anne Boran (Editor)
The papers examine four main areas: the role of the media in constructing public perceptions of crime; historical reactions to female deviants in society; social policies to tackle domestic violence; and fear of crime in the community.

Gender in Flux

Anne Boran and Bernadette Murphy (Editors)
Three major themes are explored in this book: masculinities; embodiment and culture; and the gender division of labour. While most of the contributions are concerned with the experience of contemporary Western societies, two focus on aspects of gender in Nigeria and Mexico.

Decoding Discrimination

Mark Bendall and Brian Howman (Editors)
The papers explore the nature of discrimination and difference in a variety of different contexts. Topics covered include: religion and belief in relation to ethnicity; the portrayal of old age by the media; gender in post-industrial Britain; stigma in health care settings; social class in contemporary Britain; and disability and alternative lifestyles.

Implications of Globalisation

Anne Boran and Peter Cox (Editors)
The papers raise searching questions about the nature and implications of globalisation, exploring some key features in terms of their impacts on nations and people. Three broad themes are highlighted: key players and processes; consequences and impacts; and response and resistance.
Fragmenting Family?
David Charles Ford (Editor)
The papers explore the complex ways in which family relationships have changed or are changing, in order to critically examine the contention that the family is fragmenting.

Poverty: Malaise of Development
Anne Boran (Editor)
This volume engages with three broad thematic areas: theoretical discourses and policy implications; vulnerability and poverty and solutions to poverty; and exploring how poverty undermines development strategies.

Cont_xts? Media, Representation and Society
Meriel D’Artrey (Editor)
The papers discuss the complex relationships between mediation, representation and public attitudes on social issues such as domestic violence, drug use, racism, stigma and surveillance.
