Public Complaints Procedure

University of Chester Public Complaints Procedure

1. We value the views of those who use the University's services and who come into contact with us. We are continually trying to improve what we do and we therefore welcome and encourage feedback and complaints and comments as part of our commitment to ensuring high quality and standards.
2. This procedure sets out how any complaint against the University should be made and dealt with. The procedure does not apply to complaints made by students or staff, for whom separate procedures exist.
3. A complaint is often best resolved informally, locally and at the time it arises. If you have a complaint, you should therefore raise it initially with the appropriate member of staff involved e.g. the service or project manager, or the contact point named in a relevant policy or procedure. Complainants should normally expect to receive a response to a complaint raised informally within 10 working days of the University receiving it.
4. If you do not know who to raise your complaint with informally, or if you have done so and if you are still dissatisfied, or if you think it is not appropriate to raise it informally, you should make a formal complaint in writing by completing and sending us a complaints form (Appendix 1). This form is also available online on the University's website.

It would help us if you would give as much information as possible about your complaint. You should include your name, address, telephone and email contacts (if any), copies of any relevant documents, details of any previous attempts to resolve the matter and what you believe should reasonably be done to settle it.

5. We will acknowledge your complaint in writing within 5 working days of receipt.
6. Your complaint will be investigated by an appropriate manager who will respond in writing. We expect to be able to respond within twenty working days of our acknowledgement. If your complaint is about the University Council or the Vice-Chancellor, it will be dealt with by the President of the Council.
7. When we respond, where appropriate we will notify you of any recourse to independent complaint processes beyond the University, should you remain dissatisfied.
8. If for any reason we cannot respond within the time limits stated in this policy, we will tell you why and when we expect that we will be able to respond.
9. If you need any assistance at any stage of the complaints procedure, please contact the Vice-Chancellor's office at vc@chester.ac.uk.
